

Iodine deficiency

Iodine is a very important trace element. It is required for the normal growth and development of human beings. Its deficiency during pregnancy can lead to spontaneous abortion/still birth and cretinism/mental retardation in children.

You should advise the pregnant women to take iodized salt in food, which is enough to prevent the iodine deficiency.